

G23 — The Future — Will, Going to, Future Continuous & Perfect

Exprimer l'avenir : prédictions, décisions, plans et actions en cours

 S4

 B1

 marc.vasseur@polytech-lille.fr

 L'anglais utilise plusieurs formes pour parler du futur selon le degré de certitude, de préparation ou de planification de l'action.

1. Quatre façons d'exprimer le futur

FORME	USAGE	EXEMPLE
will + base	Prédiction sans preuve / décision spontanée / promesse	Prices will rise next year.
be going to + base	Plan déjà décidé / prédiction avec preuve visible	We are going to launch the product in June.
Present Continuous	Programme personnel déjà fixé (agenda)	I'm meeting the client at 10am tomorrow.
Present Simple	Horaire fixe (transport, programme officiel)	The train leaves at 9:15.

2. Will be + V-ing / Will have + V3

STRUCTURE	USAGE	EXEMPLE
will be + V-ing (Future Continuous)	Action en cours à un moment précis du futur	This time tomorrow, we will be flying to Tokyo.
will have + V3 (Future Perfect)	Action terminée avant un moment précis du futur	By 2027, they will have completed the merger.
won't + base	Négation de will	The results won't be ready before Friday.
Will + sujet + base... ?	Question	Will you be attending the conference?

 Astuce : « going to » = déjà décidé / preuve visible. « will » = décision prise à l'instant ou prédiction incertaine. Le futur en -ing / have situe une action par rapport à un moment précis du futur.
